

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: Not...no. Well, it goes through the budget process, Senator.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Okay.

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: But now we're only talking about, like I said, just the safety part of it but it still would be in the budget process.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Right, right. And then we talk about the bonding, on bonds?

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: Yes, if they have bonds but just for safety purposes, not any other bonds.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Do not the bonds have to go before the vote of the people?

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: I think they do. I think the bonds do but this does not. This is made part of the actual budget.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Oh, okay. So in neither of these cases then would this increase go before a vote of the people, it would simply be by the city council or city board.

SENATOR SCHELLPEPER: And through their budget process.

SENATOR PIRSCH: Through their budget process. Okay, thank you.
